TULLY LUXURY TRAVEL:
THE WORD “LUXURY” IS DEFINED BY YOU.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM MARY JEAN

I love how what we look for in travel changes over time. Years ago, people were content with just getting away to somewhere warm or experiencing a great city. In more recent years, people wanted both “wow” and more low-key, local experiences like local cooking classes, wine tastings and dinners in both Michelin-starred restaurants and non-touristy, neighborhood restaurants.

Now, we want more meaningful, unique travel experiences that give us richer memories and allow us to be active participants in experiences where we get to give a little something of ourselves to the cultures and the people we are visiting. More and more, we find our clients wanting to get involved, to learn about wildlife, conservation and environmental projects. They care more about what they are eating and want food from farm-to-table. They care more about the environment and are trying to clean up plastic and consume less waste. Some want to participate in community projects or spend time with some of the local people they meet along the way. Giving back does not take a lot of time or even money; it's so easy to make a difference. Pay it forward when you travel or, “travel with a purpose”.

So often, the countries that excite us the most know poverty to a degree we can barely even begin to comprehend. Fresh water and sanitation are hard to come by and access to education is minimal. Think of all those fabulous hotels that are built out in the middle of nowhere. Then think of how so many of the people who work there, behind the scenes, have nothing. Small tokens from us matter greatly.

Many clients have told me that they want to help in some way, but they're just not quite sure how. They want their children to see how others live, they want to teach them. Well, it's simple and it's easy; for one thing, you can just throw a few everyday, much-needed items into your suitcase, things like reading glasses, band-aids and hand sanitizer. Baseball caps to ward off the harsh sun are ever so valued, as are school supplies, portable solar lights and any type of clothing for any age, even for newborn babies.

You can even leave some of your clothes behind; I recently had clients trek Rwanda to see the gorillas and they left all their hiking boots and windbreakers for locals. And other clients left their running shoes behind in India after their trip. These small things can bring enormous comfort and can literally help change a life, if not make it a little better.

In countries where your dollars go a long way, you can visit a school and see with your own eyes where their needs are. For as little as $400 per year I send children to school and provide them with a hot meal every day - and I've met the children! There are so many people all over the world who could use our help. Become a Global Citizen even if it is just in a very small way. When you see how you've helped firsthand, you'll know the impact you've had.

Travel well, travel heartfully.

Virgin Voyages

WHATS NEW...

By: Tully Luxury Travel

THE SCARLET LADY: A VIRGIN CRUISE

If Sir Richard Branson were a fashion designer, his clothes would have an edgy, rock star glamour – but they’d be distinguished by their high quality. Now imagine Virgin Voyages and their first cruise ship, the Scarlet Lady, setting sail from Miami to tour the Caribbean in 2020. Edgy, rock star glamour? Check. Quality? Check.

The adults only – 18 and over – 2,770 passenger ship will offer you lots of excitement with minimal formality. Dining has an “anywhere, anytime” quality with a range of 24-hour options including a steak and seafood restaurant, an upscale Mexican taqueria as well as a diner, a food hall, a pizza joint and a test kitchen where the chef will whip you up a surprise dish from a list of ingredients. The spa has more luxury options than you’ve ever experienced at sea with, no surprise, evening spa parties with a DJ. Suites have ocean views from every corner and an outdoor shower. Oh, and a tattoo parlor and a blow dry bar, of course.

A YACHTING EXPERIENCE: THE PENINSULA HOTEL HONG KONG

The Peninsula Hotel Hong Kong is offering a private and ultra-exclusive “luxury at sea” experience on their new, beautifully appointed yacht. Book a two-hour private cruise at dusk to watch the sun set over the city from Victoria Harbour or, later in the evening, a private “symphony of lights” cruise with canapes, champagne and fine wines. Seeing Hong Kong from the harbor will definitely be a trip high point. A plus – you don’t have to be a Peninsula guest to book a Peninsula yachting adventure.

Peninsula Private Yacht

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF QATAR

Our advice when visiting the National Museum of Qatar – don’t be in a hurry to get inside. The Museum’s exterior, a sprawling series of overlapping discs at all angles that seem to take flight, will take your breath away. To Pritzker Prize-winning architect Jean Nouvel, it suggests “the interlocking pattern of the blade-like petals of the desert rose.” Whether you see it as aerodynamic or earthbound, Nouvel has given the people of Qatar the most exquisite showcase for their heritage, a home for traditional geological and archaeological artifacts; tents, saddles and the dishes that bear witness to nomadic life and the utensils, boats and nets of a fishing heritage as well.

PRADA INSTITUTE OF SHANGHAI

Prada wasn’t the first luxury retailer to mix style and culture – Louis Vuitton and Hermès have long supported fine artists and staged exceptional exhibitions in galleries in their Paris flagship stores and around the world. But arguably, none of these esteemed retail craftsmen have done it with the “commitment” of Prada, the Italian fashion design house and retailer founded in 1913 and one of the most influential and directional fashion houses since the 1990s. Add the new Prada outpost in Shanghai to the architectural beauties they’ve created elsewhere, like the Rem Koolhaas designed Prada headquarters on the edge of Milan.

Located in the Jing’an district of Shanghai, not far from the PuLi Hotel, the building is a meticulous restoration of an early 20th century Asian baron’s European-influenced home. The fine tile work, ornately carved wooden staircases and exceptionally beautiful rooms and floors will inspire you as much as the current exhibition.

ELEPHANT COLLARING: MY UNFORGETTABLE JOURNEY

By: Mary Jean Tully

I have been fortunate enough to have had some pretty amazing and incredible conservation experiences in my life. I have participated in darting and releasing Rhinos several times, once with famed conservationists Dereck and Beverly Joubert from Rhinos Without Borders and another time at Ol Jogi. With the Jouberts, I was part of a release from a probable poaching situation in South Africa and relocated the rhino to Botswana where it had a much greater chance of survival.

A few months ago, I was part of a team where we collared six elephants from different herds in just two days. This was part of the Singita Grumeti Fund in Tanzania. It was nothing short of extraordinary! I learned even more about human-wildlife conflict and all that really goes on behind the scenes, not just poaching.

I was an active participant in everything from keeping the trunk clear while the elephant was darted for better breathing, giving the elephant an injection to wake it back up, to pouring water to cool down its body because of the heat. I even operated a handheld metal detector to scan to see if there were any poison arrows in the body due to human-wildlife conflict. While the elephant was sedated, I literally had my entire forearm down its throat to measure its teeth - on two separate occasions. If you follow me on Instagram you will see the video. This was something that was beyond anything I could imagine, to feel a part of something this rare. It was extraordinary!

Collaring helps save elephants from poachers, local villagers and farmers who are inclined to retaliate when elephants destroy their crops. The collars - which are light and painless - monitor the elephant's whereabouts so the dedicated Grumeti team can intervene before trouble can occur. It's a shame that these beautiful, gentle giants, so critical to the ecosystem, can be such a threat to the livelihood of local communities. Thank God for the good people at Grumeti Fund who are saving the elephants and local communities.

SCOTLAND: AN INSIDER'S LOOK

IN A NUTSHELL

- 12-14 days is the best length of time for a visit
- Visas are not required for North Americans
- For the best weather, visit during April – September
- Travel in August for the Royal Military Tattoo

Was it the hit television series Outlander or the recent blockbuster film, Mary Queen of Scots? Whatever the impetus, we've been getting more calls about Scotland every day. There's no doubt the glorious, sense-assaulting geography, cities that resonate with rich history and towns and villages that invite you to stop for a pint (or two, or three...) are calling this summer. You'll find Scotland more hospitable than ever before; hotels are more luxurious and gone are the days when a gourmand would be hard pressed to find someplace interesting to eat: many traditional pubs, long the heart of Scottish city and village social life, have upped their game with fresh takes on regional cuisine and there are wonderful restaurants, including Michelin-starred, from coast-to-coast. And those other great Scottish pleasures, beer and Scotch, can now be savored at ultra-cool distilleries and micro-breweries.

EDINBURGH

Few European cities transport you back in time like Edinburgh does. Scotland's mesmerizing beautiful capital is flanked by rolling hills and at its center, the towering Edinburgh Castle, a must-visit to capture the story of Scotland's passionate and violent history. Walk the centuries-old cobblestone streets of the Old Town and New Town with its Edwardian and Victorian grandeur. Visit Mary Queen's Close for a fascinating revelation of life in the 17th century and, of course, Rosslyn Chapel. Built in 1446, it added to its fame by appearing in The Da Vinci Code, and reveals the pious life of The Middle Ages.

- Visit Edinburgh Castle for spectacular views across the city, and insight into Scotland's rich and often violent past
- Just an hour from Edinburgh...the famed St. Andrews Links. Book a round of golf...or two.
- Board the Royal Yacht Britannia from the Queen's entrance, and enjoy private access to the yacht and tea and scones on the deck
- Have a drink at the famed Scotch Malt Whisky Society – or a five course dinner with whisky pairings
- Stay at the spectacular Rocco Forte Balmoral Hotel

THE HIGHLANDS

Here it is – the wild romance of Scotland. The undulating grasslands of the lower Highlands' moss-covered, arched bridges, winding village roads and thatched houses give way to the rising mountains of the upper Highlands with shimmering lochs and jaw-dropping crevasses. Wonderful experiences await you in either and the ideal itinerary will afford time in both.

- Stay at the famed Gleneagles Hotel or the recently refurbished Cromlix House in the lower Highlands or at Inverlochy House in the upper Highlands, outside of Fort William
- Embark on a Private Highland Land Rover Safari, forging rivers and streams atop mountains in search of grouse, deer and stags
- "Whisky, please." Sample at any of several iconic Whisky Distilleries
- Trek with horses in the Highlands and explore the backroads and unchartered valleys
- Experience luxury glamping, salmon fishing and clay shooting
- Learn to drive off-road, at the Land Rover Experience – taking a new Range Rover Sport to its limits
- Board a private seaplane and fly through the many lochs and valleys of Scotland's iconic West Coast

THE ROYAL SCOTSMAN

As soon as the Belmond Royal Scotsman leaves the station it's clear: Scotland is one of the most beautiful countries in the world to see by rail. Let the plaintive sound of bagpipes from the platform set the mood as you settle into a window seat in time for high tea as the country begins to reveal itself. The Royal Scotsman gives you an impeccable Scottish experience with unforgettable views and opportunities to explore truly magnificent scenery, historic towns and iconic cultural landmarks.

- Chart your own course with various roundtrip itineraries
- Cross the famed Glenfinnan Viaduct, as featured in the Harry Potter films – the route of the infamous Hogwarts Express
- Enjoy selected excursions from the train, like pristine Isle of Mull, in the wild and alluringly beautiful Hebrides
- Dine in style at night, unwind to live music, relax in the spa car...before the rhythm and the rustle of the train lulls you to sleep

A NEW LEVEL OF LUXURY

Uniworld's fleet of floating boutique hotels takes cruising to a whole new place. And we're not just talking about Europe's legendary rivers. On board, you'll find freshly prepared farm-to-table cuisine, signature cocktails made with premium spirits and limitless options for rest and relaxation, not to mention all-inclusive fares.

Start your day with a complimentary yoga class on deck. Spend a leisurely afternoon in the Serenity River Spa. Savor indulgent cuisine or opt for something lighter from the Traveling Lite menu. And finish it all off with a nightcap on your private balcony as you glide into charming cities steeped in history.

At Uniworld, they believe their guests deserve the absolute best of everything, and the difference is truly in the details.

SMALL BITES

By: Tully Luxury Travel

When you only have a few days and want a vacation that's bite-sized but more than memorable...

SANTA BARBARA

Perfectly sunny days - more than 300 a year - exquisite sunsets and one of the loveliest stretches of beach in California. They don't call Santa Barbara the American Riviera for nothing! The New York Times just named Santa Barbara one of the country's best food cities, so prepare for some fabulous meals. Spend an afternoon in Montecito, soaking in the pure, understated luxury of the place, then a round of golf - with ocean views - at the famed Sandpiper Golf Course. Have drinks at Chaplin's Martini Bar and for dinner try Bibi Ji for a modern take on

Santa Barbara

Indian, or The Monarch for a luxe California cuisine experience. Among the great places to stay: San Yasidro Ranch and the Four Seasons Biltmore.

AMANGIRI IN UTAH

The incredible Aman resort, Amangiri, nestled in the red rocks of Utah, is a favorite among our clients and will leave you spellbound with its beauty. A few days at Amangiri is a “wilderness” vacation like no other. The resort virtually melts into the surrounding landscape and the views from the Amangiri suites are mesmerizing. Hike or horseback ride in nearby national parks, dine on Southwest cuisine with local ingredients, do a full moon yoga class outdoors beneath the rising moon. Choose from a wide range of spa and wellness services in the 25,000 square foot spa pavilions. Spend the day by some of the most beautifully designed pools you’ve ever seen.

THE NAPA VALLEY

The Napa Valley is magical! This stunning landscape of wildflowers, grapevines and rolling hills, not to mention the abundant wine! Fly to San Francisco, drive one hour north and you’re on a perfect “small bite” escape with charmingly quaint towns, world-famous restaurants, elegant lodgings from five-star resorts to charming B&B’s and yes, more than 400 wineries. You’ll love Yountville, home of Thomas Keller’s famed The French Laundry, for its boutiques, bakeries and Michelin-starred restaurants. Opening this year on a vineyard near Calistoga – The Four Seasons Napa Valley.

QUEBEC CITY

Not only is Quebec City the oldest and most European city in North America, it’s definitely the most charming. Fill your day with history (and shopping!), walking Quebec’s cobblestone streets, and take a sightseeing cruise on the St. Lawrence river for the stunning views of the city. You’ll love the Quebecois warmth and hospitality and Quebec is, without doubt, a city of excellent restaurants – try Panache or Chez Boulay for Quebecois cuisine and Le Saint-Amour, the great classic restaurant that endures. Our favorite hotel: Auberge Saint-Antoine, a Relais & Châteaux property.

BANFF AND LAKE LOUISE

Expect to be greeted with views beyond compare and a sense of majesty that only the Canadian Rockies can offer. Banff and Lake Louise are all about wide open spaces and an appreciation of nature’s grandeur. It’s a UNESCO World Heritage Site – that’s how beautiful it is. So walk, hike, move! Walk the shores of glittering blue-green lakes, or challenge yourself on mountain passes. FIVE REASONS WE LOVE ITALY

By: Tully Luxury Travel

Ancient cities, glorious countryside, dramatic coastline, incomparable cuisine, incredible style – Italy overwhelms you with its beauty.

1. ROME

For history...for antiquities...all roads lead to Rome

Walk Rome's narrow streets to discover marvel after marvel...the Colosseum, the Roman Forum. Then travel just three miles, but a thousand years, to Vatican City and the splendor of St. Peter's Basilica, the Sistine Chapel and the Vatican Museums. Or just wander! Every cobblestone street reveals something of Rome's rich history. Hotels we love: Hotel Villa de Russie, Hassler Roma and Cavalieri, a Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

2. FLORENCE

For art and architecture...the grandeur of the Renaissance

Florence is so ripe with history, art and astounding architecture that wherever you look there is a tower, a dome, a piazza, a scintillating view of the city that stops you. The Uffizi Museum overflows with Renaissance art. The Galleria dell'Accademia, home to Michelangelo's sculptures, will enthrall you and the Basilica di Santa Maria del Fiore, commonly called the Duomo, will leave you spellbound. Hotels we love: Four Seasons Florence, Borgo Santo Pietro and Villa San Michele.

3. MILAN

For sophisticated Italian style...and to shop (and shop and shop)

The heart of Italian fashion and design, start with the designer boutiques on Via Monte Napoleone and Via della Spiga and the beautiful Galleria

Vittorio Emanuele II. Then seek out innovative shopping opportunities as well, where chic takes a more relaxed direction. Stores like 10 Corso Como combine great fashion with design for the home, books and art. Hotels we love: Four Seasons Milan, Mandarin Oriental Milan, Bulgari Hotel and Armani.

4. VENICE

For romance...and mystery

With its indescribable beauty and romantic waterways, Venice feels like a city of secrets. By day, take a water taxi down the Grand Canal to the awe-inspiring Basilica di San Marco and the Palazzo Ducale, then some exceptional shopping on the Murano. At night, take a gondola ride down the smaller canals to exquisite, candlelit seafood restaurants. Take in an opera or ballet performance at the Teatro La Fenice, and top it off with a glass of wine and people-watching at the famed Caffè Florian. Hotels we love: Cipriani, AMAN Venice and Bauer Il Palazzo.

5. THE AMALFI COAST

For the views...for the sheer Mediterranean beauty of it

This is the exquisitely beautiful coastal region where mountains plunge into the turquoise sea. The Amalfi Coast is a fascinating mix of sophistication and simplicity where luxury yachts, five-star hotels and grandly authentic Italian villas are juxtaposed against hillside farming villages and tiny fishing communities. Tiny roads hug the cliffs, offering awe-inspiring – and death-defying – views of the glimmering coastline below. Don't miss sophisticated Positano, the ancient town of Amalfi itself and the calmer, clifftop Sorrento. Hotels we love: Belmond Caruso, Villa Treville, Le Sirenuse, Il San Pietro and Villa Cimfore.

LIVE AUTHENTIC BEAUTY

From the Great Barrier Reef to the oldest living civilization, Australia is a land of unparalleled excellence. There are jumping kangaroos, cuddly koalas and scenery few places on earth can match. It's hard to imagine anything more beautiful than the Kimberley coast or Ayer's Rock at sunset. Unless it's New Zealand with its stunning Lord of the Rings landscapes. Our New Zealand cruises show off the Sub-Antarctic to its very best. Silversea's cruise holidays in Australia and New Zealand are a true pelagic wonderland.

BY MARY JEAN TULLY

I am so happy to have discovered and to support The Giants of Africa Foundation, the non-profit co-founded by Toronto Raptors president, Masai Ujiri that uses basketball to educate and enrich the lives of African youth. In December, I was honored to attend “Mandela 100”, a celebration of what would have been Nelson Mandela’s 100th year of life, put on by this amazing organization to honor all he has done.

Nelson Mandela has been my hero for a very long time and I had the most wonderful privilege of meeting him on two separate occasions, something that will live with me always. I was thrilled to bid on this beautiful piece of 3D art titled “Madiba” by the amazing artist Ajiri Ujiri, with proceeds going to Giants of Africa. Ajiri delivered the piece to my office personally and I will now be able to appreciate it every single day.

Both personally and professionally, I am happy to support this amazing organization and share their passion for helping Africa and their communities. I love what they stand for and Mandela himself would be so very proud of how he has been deservedly honored.

GIANTS OF AFRICA

CREATING A PATHWAY FOR YOUTH THROUGH SPORTS

The mission of Giants of Africa is to use basketball as a means to educate and enrich the lives of African youth. They aim to provide quality facilities, gear and coaches with the goal of growing the game of basketball within Africa. They create awareness and support for underprivileged children and young adults through their camps, which place emphasis on hard work, accountability, honest living and positivity. They strive to create opportunity not only as a player, but in other related areas – urging African youth to dream big.

Growing up playing basketball in Africa, Masai Ujiri realized the abundance of talent in his homeland – but these players were often referred to as raw, lacking experience in the game and lacking access to coaching and facilities. Ujiri drew upon these personal experiences and founded Giants of Africa in 2003 – a non-profit organization with the goal of changing this reality. Today the GOA Top 50 Camp has developed players at the local, national, international and professional levels. Over 80 of their campers attended high school or university in the United States, and over 100 attended university in Nigeria. In addition, nearly 20 former participants have played on junior teams in clubs throughout Europe – 30 of which have played on the Nigerian Junior National team, and nearly 55 have attended the NBA's Basketball Without Borders program in Africa. GOA has grown to include four countries in Africa: Ghana, Nigeria, Kenya and Rwanda.

ASK THE EXPERTS

Gerri, Nada, Kit and Jill

Senior Travel Designers

On why the most traveled women in the industry love river cruising.

WHY GO ON A RIVER CRUISE?

Kit: It is the best way to see the central European countries. Whether you are interested in history or culture, sports, wellness, music, food or wine there are so many unique itineraries to choose from.

WHO WOULD ENJOY A RIVER CRUISE?

Gerri: It is not for everyone. There is a lot of walking, and definitely not suited for anyone with mobility issues. It would be suited for passengers who are interested in history and culture. If you like wine, the wine-centered cruises are wonderful. Typically, they have new world wine connoisseurs on board who do comparisons between old and new world wines.

WHEN SHOULD SOMEONE START PLANNING A RIVER CRUISE, AND WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO GO?

Nada: The best time to plan is a year ahead as the ships are very small and sell out quickly. For the best weather, travel between late June to mid-October.

WHAT IS YOUR FAVORITE DESTINATION TO EXPERIENCE ON A RIVER CRUISE?

Jill: I loved the Christmas markets on the Rhine and the Danube. This would be great for a group of ladies traveling together like we did. If you are interested in WWII history, the roundtrip Paris voyage is amazing, traveling to Normandy and the landing beaches.
